VERSE

The police picked him up again this morning
But they'll let him out again without a warning
And he'll take it out on her with all his might
Oh the angels weep tonight

CHORUS

The blind man crys and the angles weep
The lights go out as they sweep the streets
And how many times must she fall
The angels weep on the bedroom walls
The angels weep on the bedroom walls

Repeat Chorus

VERSE

When they got married he wasn't so rough
But for a man with demons it's never enough
All the drinking didn't leave room for much
And the lust for the bottle replaced her touch

Repeat Chorus

They picked her up from her home today
And they finally took and locked him away
And they drove her across town in a limousine
And I could hear the angels sing
